Served as Demonstration of Resiliency of Market After Week's Depression.

BUT STOCKS ARE STAGNANT

BE Where Level Is Reached There Is Little Movement, Foreign Markets Being Same.

another demonstration to-day of the resiliency of stock prices from the de-pressing influence of the European realliency of stock prices from the depressing influence of the European political outlook.

Opening prices were established at a point which more than made up the decline of the last of the week caused by the new threat of hostilities in the Balkans. The level of prices being restored, the market became virtually stagnant. Foreign markets fell into a similar condition of neglect after the recovery in prices.

The fact became obvious here that the great financial powers were resting on their oars. This passive attitude did not involve any wide drift from position as the current of the price movement was sluggish to the point of stagnation. Incoming advices continue to show progress in business and undiminished confidence in a more better revival after the elections.

The strength of the present banking position has precluded the paying of serious attention to the swift donn expansion of the last weeks, with contraction of reserves and prospect of further drain. There were inquiries to-day for gold for export at the assay office, and a shipment on Thursday is considered likely. Neglect made prices vulnerable to some reaction from the opening level, although there was nothing like activity at any time during the day.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,366,090. United States bonds unchanged on cail. Total sales of stocks to-day, $14,481 $24 per cent.
